LEAVE OUR SATELLITE RADIO ALONE

As a truck driver running across america I've found that over the last couple of years I've come to depend on my x-m radio, and the addition of traffic weather and road reports on x-m is always at my finger tips ,there's no surching the bands or waiting for the so called reports every 15 mins. that are incorrect and old news plus they never get the traffic tyups right .

Just maybe if the am & fm radio were more efficient they wouldn't have to fear satellite radio grabbing such a big piece of their pie.

And furthermore why is this even a FCC issue anyway?

There is no laws being broken, it's just lazy people that give crappy service wanting the government to protect their crappy service.

just one man's opinion
